Danae Wilson Appointed to Idaho Broadband Task Force

"In a data-driven society, connectivity is imperative for a vital economy. Improved broadband infrastructure ensures both urban and rural Idaho will be connected and well-positioned to attract business and enhance our citizens' quality of life," stated Governor of Idaho, Brad Little.

On May 23rd, 2019 the Governor's office issued a press release stating the Governor's commitment to establish an Idaho Broadband Task Force. The Task Force will come up with recommendations by November 2019, on how the State can assist in furthering Idaho's connectivity and speeds. The group's focus will be on mapping existing services and identifying gaps in the broadband infrastructure.

According to the Federal Communications Commission's 2018 Broadband Progress Report, 98% of urban areas and 68% or rural areas in Idaho have broadband; providing two or more options of service to approximately 1 million residents. However, 327 thousand Idahoans have only one op-

Danae Wilson, Nez Perce Tribe Department of Technology Services Manager, has been asked to serve on this task force. "I was very honored to be accepted to the Task Force. The Nez Perce Tribe has seen great expansion of broadband over its reservation and the hope is to make the connections necessary to expand fiber deployment." said Wilson.

The task force is comprised of government officials, internet providers, satellite providers, cellular providers, industry representatives, universities, and representatives from tribes, counties, and cities. The group will have four monthly meetings starting in June. They will consider options for improving service and coverage, and provide recommendations for strategies, programs, incentives and grants for significant strides in service across Idaho.

Sierra Higheagle Conducts Water Quality Governance Survey

Sierra Higheagle is an enrolled member of the Nez Perce Tribe. She is currently attending the University of Idaho, working towards her Master's Degree in Natural Resources. Additionally, Higheagle has been working for the NPT Water Resources Division since April of 2018. Higheagle recently created a Water Quality Governance Survey, and she is looking to get as much participation as possible. "Most people understand the importance of water and water quality," said Higheagle, "I am trying to get a better understanding of the values of water quality among Nez Perce community members." Higheagle is also interested in learning about specific places and sites of water quality that are concerning, and how they have changed overtime.

Surveying has been going well so far, however with it being technology based, it has caused some difficulties for those who are not familiar with online surveying. This being the case, Higheagle is working on additional portions to the survey for individuals preferring another method. She will include some interviews and anticipates this will give her research a way to unfold other's perspectives.

There is currently no deadline for completion of the survey, but Higheagle plans to collect her data by the end of summer 2019. The data collected will then be posted on the tribal water quality governance website and will be available to the public in order for interested parties to stay updated on the progress. All survey participants will be entered to win one of two $100 Walmart gift cards.

Higheagle would like to give a huge thank you to everyone that has participated and encourages everyone to spread the word to take the Water Quality Governance Survey. "Shout out to my advisor Teresa Cohn and a big thank you to my family for putting up with me when I am in school mode, but also being my support throughout it all. And a shout out to my lovely grand-parents, because they are the motivation behind all of my successes," concluded Higheagle.

Higheagle is the daughter of Jessica and Dominic Higheagle, and granddaughter of Evelyn and Tony Higheagle, Jeanette-Nora (Gram J) Dishion and Jess Erevia. For more information, contact Sierra Higheagle at 208-790-4717 or Sierrah@nezperce.org.

Moffett is Crowned Little Miss Renewal

Ravena Clair Bernice Moffett, Quinault and Nez Perce, is six years old and was crowned Little Miss Renewal on April 27th in Suquamish, Washington.

Moffett held the title of Little Miss Lookingglass previously, but she told her mom she wanted to be a princess again. Moffett dances Fancy Shawl and says she has loved dancing since she was born. She can also dance Jingle and Coastal Style. She enjoys and she has pow wows friends who are also Suquamish royalty. She has always been encouraged by her parents, po'cs, and aunties.

Moffett's mother made her new regalia with an appaloosa theme, and she practiced for the interview and dancing. "At the pow wow I danced in grand entries and all of the intertribals," said Moffett. She will participate in parades, provide cultural presentations and dance at pow wows. She will also welcome canoes to Suquamish during the canoe hosting, July 19 & 20.

Moffett is the daughter of Joel and Alaina Moffett, the granddaughter of Elliott and the late Reine Moffett, and the greatgranddaughter of the late Walter and Bernice Moffett of Kamiah. She is a kindergartener at Richard Gordon Elementary in Kingston, Washington. She would like to thank Ms. Kate Ahvakana and Ms. Becky Rupp, for running the pageant. Moffett's family is very proud of their bird girl. "Keep smiling and dancing," are their cheerful words for her.

"Qeciyewyew to grandma Bernice, auntie Sara and cousin Leon for making the trip to Suquamish to witness the competition and support Ime-leght; Gary Greene for recognizing Ravena speaking Nimiiputimt during the introductions. We hold our hands up to the Pow Wow committee," said the Moffett family.

Nez Perce - Clearwater National Forests to Host Free Fishing Day on June 8th, 2019

The Nez Perce-Clearwater National Forests and several partner groups will be celebrating Free Fishing Day on Saturday, June 8, 2019 at locations near Grangeville, Elk City, and Lowell. Idaho's Free Fishing Day is an annual event held the second Saturday every June. All anglers, residents and nonresidents, can celebrate the day by fishing Idaho's waters without a license. An adult must accompany young participants. Some locations have fishing gear that you can borrow, but you are encouraged to bring a fishing pole and your own tackle and prepare for a fun-filled day of fishing!

Near Grangeville, Free Fishing Day activities will be held at Wilkins' Pond, located on Lake Road off of U.S. Highway 95 approximately 5.5 miles south of Grangeville. The Nez Perce-Clearwater National Forests, Grangeville Lions Club, Idaho Department of Fish and Game, and the Bureau of Land Management's Cottonwood office will be hosting the 31st annual Free Fishing Day event. Events will take place from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. (PDT). There will be a casting contest, fish art activity, a raffle drawing for prizes, and awards for the biggest and smallest fish caught! The Grangeville Lions Club will provide hot dogs and drinks free for participants. For more information about the event at Wilkins' Pond, please contact Amanda Maki at (208) 983-4020.

Near Elk City, Free Fishing Day festivities will be taking place at Karolyn's Pond. To get to Karolyn's Pond, turn off of U.S. Highway 14 onto county road #222 towards Red River. Look for the pond near the old Red River Ranger Station. For more information, please contact the Red River Ranger District at (208) 842-2245.

Near Lowell, anglers can enjoy Free Fishing Day at Fenn Pond, located across from Fenn Ranger Station on Forest Service Road #223. This pond boasts smooth trails, fishing piers, and a boardwalk, making it an ideal spot for children and those needing less rugged fishing access. The pond was recently stocked with rainbow trout and is ready for you to enjoy! Contact the Fenn Visitor Center for more information: (208) 926-4258.

Please keep in mind that all other regular fishing rules and regulations-including creel limits, opening dates, and tackle restrictions-remain in effect on Free Fishing Day. Always contact the Idaho Department of Fish and Game to check fishing seasons and rules for the water where you plan to go fishing.

The Nez Perce-Clearwater National Forests thanks all our partner groups for their efforts to help make Free Fishing Day a success, including the Idaho Department of Fish and Game, which stocks the ponds.

NIH Award Goes to Spokane Youth Addiction Program

The Healing Lodge of the Seven Nations in Spokane Valley, Washington

On April 29, 2019, the Healing Lodge of the Seven Nations (The Lodge), in collaboration with Harvard Medical School's Division on Addiction were awarded a national research grant from the Native American Research Center for Health (NARCH) funded by the National Institute of Health (NIH) and the Indian Health Service (IHS). This award will support the development of a mental health emergency response system for tribal communities. This unique approach will allow community members to identify and respond to anyone who may be suffering from a mental health crisis. The approach will raise the collective knowledge about trauma and mental health crises in tribal communities.

Tribal members from each of the seven tribes of The Lodge were recruited to serve in an advisory capacity to help guide the development and the approach to honor tribal participatory research. "I am proud to bring this approach to the tribes of the seven nations and to a national Native community," said Martina Whelshula, Principal Investigator and Colville Tribal member.

The Lodge is a Spokane,

Washington based youth chemical dependency treatment center. It received a grant totaling over $2.35 million to cover the next four years. The grant followed a 2014-2018 NARCH award that helped The Lodge identify gaps in post-treatment recovery support systems for addicted youth from Native American tribes.

Through the grant, The Lodge will continue its partnership with the Division on Addiction at Cambridge Health Alliance, a Harvard Medical School teaching hospital, to create xa?tus for Mental Health (First Face). First Face refers to the ability for any family or community member to provide emergent support to anyone who is developing a mental health problem or experiencing a mental health crisis. The grant and resulting partnership are a result of a highly competitive and rigorous application, peer review and selection process.

During its first year, the NARCH grant will support the assembly of a working group of tribal representatives from seven tribes including the Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation, the Kalispel Tribe of Indians, the Spokane Tribe of Indians, the Nez Perce Tribe, the Kootenai Tribe of Idaho, the Coeur d'Alene Tribe and the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation. The working group will participate in the development and planning for First Face, ensuring that tribal values for wellness and health are integrally incorporated.

"First Face will make a significant impact in local Tribal communities," said Whelshula, "With this program, we will improve tribal communities' ability to support adolescents recovering from chemical dependency and youth and adults experiencing mental health challenges."

Nationally, 12.6% of Native American youth 12 years and older have experimented with illicit drugs. Alcohol or drug misuse plays a role in 70% of suicides in adolescents, and suicide is the eighth leading cause of death in Native American communities, which is twice the national average.

"The NARCH research showed that this is something that tribes have asked for and need," said Rebecca Crocker, Executive Director at The Healing Lodge, "First Face is going to be a resource for tribes across the nation."

The National Institute of General Medical Sciences and several other NIH Institutes and Centers have partnered with IHS to support the NARCH program. The NARCH initiative supports partnerships between American Indian/Alaska Native (AI/ AN) tribes or tribally-based organizations and institutions that conduct intensive academic-level biomedical research. NARCH provides opportunities for conducting research, research training and faculty development to meet the needs of AI/AN communities. As a developmental process, tribes and tribal organizations are able to build a research infrastructure, including a core component for capacity building and the possibility of reducing the many health disparities so prevalent in AI/AN communities.

For more information about the Healing Lodge, please feel free to Martina Whelshucontact (509)998-3213, at whelshulam@comcast.net or contact Danielle Stensgar (509)533-6910,at danielles@healinglodge.org.

Lewiston High School Graduate Job Shadows NPT Communications Team

Lydia McRoberts is a 2019 graduate from Lewiston High School. For her Entrepreneurship class, McRoberts' was required to job shadow an individual or company that would educate her on Marketing and Outreach. With an interest in Public Relations, she reached out to Kayeloni Scott, Nez Perce Tribe Communications Manager. McRoberts wanted to learn more about Communications and Marketing. During the month of May, McRoberts spent 11 hours observing the Communications Team.

Scott provided McRoberts with educational and career advice and allowed her to do some hands on work such as website management and research, she was also able to attend a couple meetings. "She was very helpful and showed me the significance of working with many different departments and the organized management of information," McRoberts said, "I enjoyed every minute of my experience."

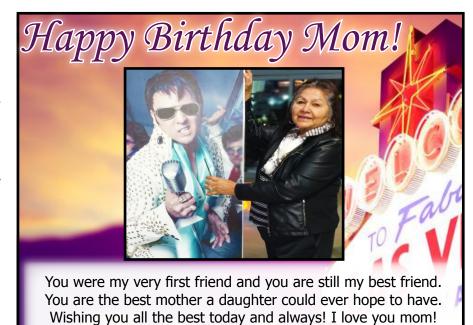

McRoberts was also able to get a glimpse of the work the Tribe does, how the government runs, and tour the tribal offices. "Kayeloni and Chantal made my experience so informational and enjoyable," McRoberts said. "I learned more than I hoped for and it couldn't have been any better."

McRoberts is the daughter of Heidi McRoberts, Deputy Director for the Watershed Division of the Department of Fisheries Resources Management; and Jason and Janelle McRoberts. She graduated as a valedictorian for her class and will be attending the University of Idaho in the fall. We send our congratulations to her on graduating and wish her well on her next adventure!

Today is Your Day! Stay happy, healthy & blessed on your special day and every day of the year.

New Bronze Statue on Main Street in Joseph, Oregon

Artist Doug Hyde was born in Hermiston, Oregon; grew up in Lapwai, Idaho; went to the art school in Santa Fe, New Mexico, then later moved to Vietnam. On his return home, he learned to carve stone while working in a monument yard in Lewiston, Idaho. For the last 40 years Hyde has worked in stone and bronze. Much of his recent work has been telling tribal stories through those mediums, across the country. His bronze sculpture of Chief Joseph is at the National Museum of the American Indian in Washington D.C., and at the Clearwater River Casino near Lewiston.

He will soon have another piece on display; 'etweyé'wise ("I return from a hard journey") on Main Street in Joseph, Oregon. The Josephy Center for Arts and Culture received a generous grant from the Oregon Community Foundation, to commission a Plateau Indian artist to design something special for the city. Joseph's bronze streetscape has several sculptures depicting Native Americans, but none of them are the work of an Indian artist. The Josephy Center, with Oregon Community Foundation's support, set out to change that.

Jurors from three reservations—Colville in Washington, Nez Perce in Idaho, and Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla in Oregon—sifted through several initial applications, and asked two final artists to submit sketches of their 3-dimensional visions for the project. The jurors were in awe of Hyde's work and asked him to complete the design.

Hyde's conception is a granite wall with an outline of the mountains in the background, and the full-size figure of a Nez Perce woman carved out of the granite. The woman, in bronze, is walking back toward the mountains, toward the Wallowas. It truly is 'etweyé'wise.

The sculpture will sit in the Josephy Center's front yard, visible from Main Street. The unveiling and installation of Hyde's work is scheduled for 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, June 22. Elders and tribal members are encouraged to attend, and everyone is invited!

Lapwai School District Pow Wow Honors Grads & Retirees

The 2019 Lapwai School District Student Pow Wow honored graduates and retirees. The event took place on May 28th, 2019 at the Lapwai High School gymnasium. It was coordinated by the Nez Perce STEP Native Culture and Language Team, with support from the Lapwai School District Native Youth Community Project. Community members and students of all ages participated in dancing and shaking hands with the honored guests. There were 35 students in the graduating class of 2019. We would like to thank Sandra Maggi (30 years) and Janell Williams (25 years), the two retirees that have served the Lapwai community for many years. Best of luck to the graduates and retirees on their future endeavors!

Nez Perce National Historical Park Donates Woodchips to Community Garden

The Nez Perce National Historical Park (Park) had their work cut out for them after multiple trees fell over at the Heart of the Monster site in Kamiah, Idaho. Seven large locust trees came down and the Park maintenance crew had the task of cleaning them up in time for other activities. They were also resourceful in their efforts.

The Park maintenance crew cleaned up all the trees and turned them into woodchips. After the cleanup, they delivered and donated all the woodchips to the Lapwai Community Garden. Thank you for making our community a better place!

Pursuant to the Nez Perce Tribal Code Section 3-1-11, the Nez Perce Tribe Fish and Wildlife Commission has the authority to promulgate annual and seasonal hunting and fishing regulations and prescribe the manner and methods which may be used in taking fish and wildlife. Pursuant to that authority, the Nez Perce Fish and Wildlife Commission adopted the following fishing regulation for the Nez Perce Tribe.

Season Closure Notice Nez Perce Tribe 2019 Clearwater River Spring Chinook Ceremonial & Subsistence Fishery Closure Effective Saturday June 1, 2019 at 9PM (PST) Until Further Notice

Fishery Closure Area

Clearwater River Subbasin:

Area closed to fishing for Nez Perce tribal members include the entire reaches of the following rivers.

Mainstem Clearwater: Confluence with the Snake River upstream to the confluence with the Lochsa and Selway rivers.

North Fork Clearwater: Confluence with the mainstem Clearwater

River upstream to the Dworshak Dam.

South Fork Clearwater: the entire South Fork Clearwater River drainage and its tributaries.

Clear Creek: entire reach of the Clear Creek. Lolo Creek: entire reach of Lolo Creek.

Based on available run projections for the Clearwater River spring Chinook it does not look like the hatchery broodstock needs for the spring Chinook hatchery programs will be met this year due to low projected run sizes. As a result, there is no harvestable fish available to support treaty fisheries.

The Selway River will remain open for spring Chinook treaty fisheries.

Please carry your Nez Perce Tribal Enrollment Card when fishing. Respect the water and earth by putting litter in its place and by keeping areas clean. For additional information regarding Nez Perce Tribal regulations, please contact the Nez Perce Tribe Fish and Wildlife Commission at (208) 843-9376. Nez Perce Culture Day at Spalding Nimiipuu Tribal members, dressed in regalia and on their beautiful Appaloosa horses, rode into the Nez Perce National Historic Spaulding Park for Culture Day.

Joe Lewis, vice president of the Nez Perce Appaloosa Horse Club, spoke of the Appaloosa and how they were developed by the Nez Perce Tribe in the 1700s. The Appaloosa is known for its amazing endurance and strength. Lewis is a great-great grandson of Ollokot, a Nez Perce leader and key figure in the War of 1877, and brother of Chief Joseph.

"They are pretty amazing horses," Lewis said, "they are really strong and narrow, so they have a lot of endurance and can go a lot of miles." Their stamina is one reason the Nez Perce were able to keep well ahead of the U.S. calvary during the war and helped progress across north central Idaho and into Montana.

The horses of the Appaloosa Club, are bred from horses descended directly from an Appaloosa herd from Wallowa County, in Oregon. They have since been crossed with the Akhal-Teke breed from Turkmenistan. Lewis is training his horse for the Happy Canyon Show at the Pendleton Round-Up, which depicts the settling of the western United States.

Saturday's Culture Day parade was put on by the Nez Perce National Historic Park featuring Nez Perce culture and history. Mike Gauthier, superintendent of the park, said the Culture Day was an annual event in the 1980s and 1990s, but somehow faded away. The National Park Service and tribe began a reboot of the event last year. It offers one way for tribal members to showcase their culture and history, making resources of the park more accessible to visitors.

Agnes Weaskus was honored at the event as one of the elders of the year. She said the recognition was an honor, and the day was a way to celebrate both the tribe's history, continued existence and the passing on of traditions and practices such as horsemanship, the Nez Perce language and traditional artwork from generation to generation. "Culture to me is the celebration of the survival of our culture and our ways," she said. "It's part of our culture to appreciate one another and sometimes we forget to do that. We need to compliment our accomplishments," said Weaskus.

The day included tours and ranger guided walks, a program and demonstration where a ranger showed visitors how to set up a tipi, and a pow wow featuring Nez Perce dancers and drummers.

Nez Perce elder Leroy Seth said the Lewiston-Clarkston Valley and surrounding area are filled with Nez Perce culture and history, with plenty of opportunities for people to experience it. "There is all kinds of art and history right in front of you and it's free," he said, "come and enjoy it."

Congratulations Preston!

Kooskia, ID - Clearwater Valley's High School (CVHS) long distance runners were fearless and made admirable strides at the 2019 Idaho High School Track and Field State 1A Championships at Middleton, Idaho. Preston Amerman, Nez Perce Tribal member and CVHS sophmore, ranked 12th in the State of Idaho male 1A division, and 10th the following Saturday. Stay tuned for next years efforts as Ammerman is well prepared. Pictured with Ammerman is his uncle and aunt, Doug and Pat Jackson, who traveled all the way from Salt Lake City, UT to watch him compete.

The 2019 Snake River Basin Spring and Summer Chinook Salmon Runs

"As stewards of our fish resources we are obligated to protect these fish for the present as well as future generations. By taking closures when necessary, we are attempting to ensure these fish are able to spawn in the rivers or make it to hatcheries to produce the next generation of fish. By doing so we are choosing to benefit the life cycle of the fish at a time when they are in such low numbers and are in need of the most help. We are upholding our responsibility to these fish by taking closures when necessary.

Our regulations to take closures when necessary are an attribute of the Tribe's inherent sovereignty, which includes the Tribe's retained authority to regulate the exercise of off-reservation Treaty-reserved rights. Effective tribal self-regulation and tribal enforcement—responsive to the protection of Treaty-reserved resources — protects the Tribe's treaty-reserved rights and works to preclude state and federal efforts to restrict our Treaty-reserved rights."

"Planning for Your Future" Workshop

The Estate Planning workshop was hosted at the Clearwater River Casino on May 29, 2019. The presentation included Dan Vis, Office of Special Trustee of American Indians with Bureau of Indian Affairs Northern Idaho Agency; University of Idaho's Native American Law Program & introduction of the Nez Perce Tribe's Wills Intern; and Karen Richel, University of Idaho's Latah County Extension. The event had over 35 attendees ranging in ages from young adults to our elderly. Your last wishes and how you want to divide your titled and non-titled assets can be a tough subject to approach with your loved ones, however it is important to start the conversation.

Richel presented "Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate?" a topic covering transferring non-titled property emphasizing that everyone has property or something of value. The most important takeaway from the workshop is to make sure that you don't leave this topic to resolve itself. Richel emphasized that "They (you) really need to talk to family members to make sure that they (you) don't leave a mess when they (you) are gone. Having things written and witnessed is the way to go." The "letter of last instruction" was part of the handouts given during the presentation. This is just another part to making sure that their loved ones know where to find the information they are going to need.

As a follow up to this presentation, Richel and Nimiipuu Fund will host "Organizing Your Financial Paperwork" class that will give you some additional ideas on where to store and save this information. Karen Richel is a Certified Money Coach (CMC) and can be reached at 208-883-2241 for a one-on-one meeting. Nimiipuu Fund has copies of materials presented at class and can make materials available. Vis, can be reached at 208-621-4835.

Zims Hot Springs Open for Business

Zims Hot Springs (Zims) officially reopened to the general public on Friday, May 24, 2019, under the ownership of the Nez Perce Tribe (Tribe). Zims had been closed while the Tribe worked on several transitional needs and requirements.

Zims will continue to provide the same quality services that were offered prior to the Tribe acquiring the business. An adult day pass is $8.00, seniors are $7.00 and a child day pass is $6.50. The pools will be open from 12:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, closed on Mondays. However, Zims will be open this Monday for the Memorial Holiday.

Zims is located at 2995 Zims Road in New Meadows,

New Meadows, Idaho- Idaho, The Tribe purchased the property from long-time owner Allen Dixon on Friday, March 22, 2019. This historic area is part of the Tribe's aboriginal territory and was once referred to as Chinook Meadows.

> "The acquisition of this property brings forth endless possibilities and there is great potential for the site. The most important aspects, however, are the spiritual, cultural and medicinal qualities of the area and the springs," stated Shannon Wheeler, Chairman of the Nez Perce Tribe Executive Committee. "We are looking forward to building on our relationship with all of our neighbors in the local communities and continuing to provide access to this unique area to all visitors."

Ecological Forest Management Field Tour

The University of Idaho Extension is offering an Ecological Forest Management Field Tour Thursday, June 27, 2019, from 9:00 am to 3:00 pm.

All State Roster Includes Lapwai's Yearout & Lone Bear

Lapwai Middle School Yearout said, "Some goals I students, Ahluis Yearout and Sage Lone Bear, have been selected to play in the 7th Grade Idaho All-State Game on Saturday, June 22nd at Canyon Ridge High School in Twin Falls.

The primary purpose of this game is to bring awareness to the 450,000 children in foster care nationwide. The All-State Game has no entry fee, but family of the players are asked to donate at least one backpack. Last year, over 700 backpacks were donated, which went directly to children in foster care. "I'm pretty excited!"

WILDCATS

have set for this game are to go out and get some good hits and to try my best." Yearout is the son of Abe and Brittney Yearout. He would like to thank his parents for all of their support and for attending his games. He'd especially like to recognize his dad for working with him regularly to develop his skills. Yearout would also like to thank his older brother Titus for setting an example of being a hardworking athlete. Lastly, Yearout would like to thank his Papa Jon, Grandma Rosa and Auntie Joyce for being such big fans and helping him out financially when needed.

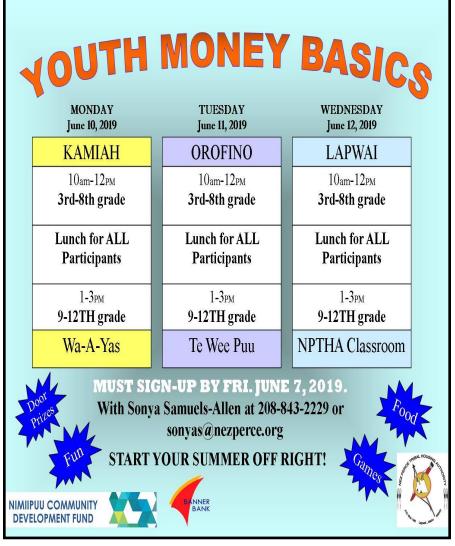

Sage Lone Bear is the son of Ben Lone Bear and Melanie Wheeler. He excels in school, striving to get straight A's and has been on the Honor Roll every year, all because his dream is to one-day play in the NFL. Lone Bear understands the relationship between his performance in school and on the field. "We spend a lot of time together working on his skillset," said Lone Bear's dad, "He's got his own skillset and his own talent that he is capitalizing on." Lone Bear's mom said he pushes and motivates himself to get better and better. Sage would like to thank his parents for supporting him. Lone Bear's family would also like to thank everybody for the love and support. They would especially like to thank his coaches, Tui, Church, and Jeremy Whynot.

Idahosports.com will be streaming the game live on June 22. Please tune in and support Lapwai's Yearout and Lone Bear as they play with the Idaho State Team against the Treasure Valley Team.

Francoise "Coy" Marie Swift, 70, Lapwai, ID

Surrounded in love and covered in prayer by her family, Francoise "Coy" Marie Swift passed away Sunday, May 19, 2019, at Kootenai Health in Coeur d'Alene. Her tremendous courage and grace during her illness was an inspiration to her family and friends.

Coy Kessler was born Dec. 29, 1948, to Rena Katherine Lott (Wetsesa) and Charles Kessler in Lewiston. Clifton "Butch" Ramsey raised and loved her and her siblings as his own children, after he married their mother in 1954, so she called him Dad. Her Indian name was Tamatwayat (Live to Be an Old Woman). She was a member of the Nez Perce Tribe.

Coy was extremely proud to know her Nez Perce lineage traced back to Chief Red Grizzly Bear, Blackeagle, and Wottolen and Wetsesa (her great-grandparents who survived the Nez Perce Conflict of 1877). Her grandparents were Sam Lott (Many Wounds) and Cecelia Showaway Williams (Sunset). Her great-grandfather, Paul Showaway, was the last hereditary chief of the Cayuse Tribe. She spent most of her childhood years living and attending school in Kamiah. Swimming and hiking in the hills were her favorite pastimes. Besides Coy, or Coy Coy, she also earned the nickname of mácgoy (chipmunk in Nez Perce) since she liked to eat seeds.

She later attended high school in Lapwai, where she would make her home for most of her adult life. Coy was a homemaker, but also was trained and employed through the women construction program.

Her mother and grandmother raised her to know her tribal culture and to perform musically. They often traveled to Mount Adams in Washington to pick huckleberries. Starting at the age of 4, she performed with her sister, Sandra, as the Kessler Dames at church during Christmas. After much practice, they gave a memorable performance of "Silent Night," so were asked to return for many years.

In 1967, she married James Reuben. They lived for a time in Oakland, Calif., with their daughter, Sunae Kay Reuben. Although their marriage later ended in divorce, they remained committed to raising their daughter together so she knew the love and support of two large families.

On May 15, 2019, she celebrated her 40th anniversary with Oliver "OG" Mason Swift), originally (formerly from Taholah, Wash. They were officially married in 1982 after her fiancee OG and sister Sandra devised a plan to get her to "dress up" before ending up at the courthouse for a surprise wedding. OG and Coy would have many similar adventures in their time together. They loved to enjoy life with the simple pleasures of dancing, looking for eagles and driving their favorite route they called "the loop" (Lapwai to Cottonwood Creek to Talmaks to McCormack Ridge).

Spending quality time with their family and friends was very important to them. In 1984, they welcomed their daughter, second Cheyna Cecelia Swift, into the family. Proverbs 17:6 says, "Children's children (grandchildren) are the crown of the elderly, and the glory of children is their parentage (parents)." This statement fits Coy perfectly because her grandchildren, Arika Marie Reuben (her No. 1) and Amrin, Raul and Danielle Montanez (her piggies) brought tremendous joy and fulfillment to her life. OG and Coy were also proud of their four grandsons from the Quinault reservation. Coy's hope for her grandchildren is for them to be happy and to know their ga'aca (maternal grandma in Nez Perce) will love them always.

Coy is survived by her husband, OG, in the family home; daughter Sunae Reuben and her daughter, Arika Reuben, both of Lapwai; daughter Cheyna Swift and her children, Amrin, Raul and Danielle Montanez, all of Lewiston; sister Rosa (Jon) Yearout of Sweetwater; sister Sandra Pena of Kamiah; and numerous cousins, nieces, nephews and their children.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Butch and Rena Katherine Ramsey; grandfather Sam Lott; grandmother Cecelia Showaway Williams; brother James Higheagle; four siblings who died as infants: Sammy Kessler, Julius Broncheau, Simon Lott and Ardella Almighty; daughter Amelia McMinds; son-in-law Daniel Montanez; and nieces Beverly "Candy" Higheagle and Shelly Higheagle.

The holy rosary will be recited at 7 p.m. today at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Lapwai. This will be followed by memorial services at 7:30 p.m. The funeral Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Thursday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Lapwai. The Rev. Brad Neely of All Saints Catholic Church in Lewiston will be the celebrant. Burial will follow at the Coyote Cemetery near Spalding, followed by dinner at the St. Kateri church hall.

Vassar-Rawls neral Home of Lewiston is in charge of arrangements.
